ABOUT ME

Hello! A quick autobiography: Originally from Ireland, I emigrated to North America in the mid 1990's. I began my scholastic career as an English major with minors in both philosophy and psychology, but I never used the skills that I acquired for any practical applications. During the pandemic, I re-evaluated my career path and decided that I would be happier as a designer, as I have always felt the urge to create. This led to my enrollment in the Kapiʻolani Community College New Media Arts programme, which has happily led me to you.
